

DERMATOLOGICAL SURGERY

MANAGEMENT OF PERIORBITAL GROWTHS

Degambar Banodkat⁽¹⁾

Emirates Medical Center, Dermatologists, Muscat, Oman⁽¹⁾

The PERIORBITAL area is not only delicate structure but also anatomically important being the thinnest and highly vascular.

Many dermatological condition are frequently seen on this area which requires the dermatologist eye for diagnosing it and use various dermatological armamentarium to treat them

Various conditions so many encountered in practice like xanthelasma, milium, seborrheic keratosis, moles, molluscum, cystic hygromas, vascular tumours and cutaneous malignancies etc their management will be discussed.

